Loosely based on actual reports of Japanese submarines patrolling the Pacific during WWII, I'll Remember April details events that transpire following the bombing of Pearl Harbor. It's an action-filled drama about the life of four ten-year old California boys, PEE WEE (Haley Joel Osmont), DUKE (Trevor Morgan), TYLER (Richard Taylor Olson) and WILLY (Yuki Tokuhiro) and their perilous journey to self-discovery. Best of friends, the boys like to fantasize that they are Marines in search of the enemy. Known throughout the town for telling tall tales, the FBI soon show up and cut their mission short. Feeling hurt and dejected, the boys head to their clubhouse, where they are shocked to find a Japanese sailor washed up on the beach. The boys, desperately wanting to become heroes, take him prisoner as they determine his fate. Duke, whose brother is fighting the Japanese overseas, keeps the capture a secret from his parents (Mark Harmon, Pam Dawber). But when Duke is dramatically rescued from drowning, the boys befriend their prisoner and eventually make a pact that will betray their own country.

Jack Dejohnette - Drums, Herbie Hancock - Keyboards, Dave Holland - Bass, Pat Metheny - Guitars.

For the first time, these four masterful musicians come together to form a jazz group most people would never expect to see happen. Taking their collaborations around the world, they toured Canada, Europe, Japan, and the United States, performing concerts and festivals to sold out audiences and rave reviews. On June 23, 1990, this extraordinary group performed two concerts at the Mellon Jazz Festival at the Philadelphia Academy of music. Both shows were filmed and have been carefully edited to create a technically flawless video of a truly "once in a lifetime" event. All of the songs were selected with great care, as might be expected from a band of this caliber. Including "Shadow Dance", a Dave Holland original; "Solar", a popular Miles Davis original; "Blue" is an original piece by Jack Dejohnette, and "Cantaloupe Island", the closing number of the program, is a Herbie Hancock original from the 60's. Formatted for DVD 16 x 9. in 5.1 Dolby Digital Audio.

"The Life and Times of Steve Marriott" is a compelling documentary about one of rock's most dynamic, exciting, and sadly; unsung heroes of rock and roll. Showcasing revelatory interviews with Humble Pie's Peter Frampton, Jerry Shirley, and Greg Ridley, the Black Crowes's Chris Robinson, Rick Nielsen and Bun E. Carlos of Cheap Trick, John Waite, Bad Company/Free drummer Simon Kirke, Quiet Riot's Kevin Dubrow, Ricky Byrd and Marriott historian John Heller among others, the documentary vividly tells the tale of Steve's tragically short life via the use of previously unseen photos, memorabilia, and home movies. Rare fiery performance footage of The Small Faces and Humble Pie frames the action, drawing the viewer closer to this wonderful and underrated artist.

THE METROPOLITAN OPERA

Luciano Pavarotti in his first Met Ballo heads an illustrious cast in the revolutionary production of Verdi's opera, Katia Ricciarelli, Louis Quilico, Judith Blegen, and Bianca Berini round out the cast. For his Metropolitan Opera debut, Elijah Moshinsky places his provocative Un Ballo in Maschera in 18th-Century Boston, on the eve of the American Revolution. It's a time of unrest and transition, when the conflict between civic obligation and personal desire is drawn into even sharper focus. Moshinsky's interpretation of the 1859 classic strips away all the familiar conventions and, as Andrew Porter in The New Yorker sums it up, we see "Verdi's opera to be (in Shaw's words for 'The Ring') a work 'frightfully real, frightfully present, frightfully modern'...this is a Ballo about things that matter."

Idomeneo is generally considered Mozart's earliest operatic masterpiece. Mozart revelled in the intense human emotions of the story creating finely drawn musical portraits of each character.

This 1982 production of Idomeneo was the first ever mounted at the Metropolitan. An international cast was assembled that could hardly be bettered. In the title role Luciano Pavarotti was praised for his "great dignity, impeccable musical taste and remarkable clarity of tone and diction." Ileana Cotrubas is "wonderful" and "lovely" as Ilia, and Frederica von Stade in the role of Idamante "sang and acted a just about ideal performance." Hildegard Behrens received a "show stopping ovation for her concluding mad scene," while James Levine's conducting was judged "flawless in pace and idiomatic understanding."

The medieval romance of the Swan Knight, who comes miraculously to the rescue of the falsely accused Elsa of Brabant, became one of Richard Wagner's most beloved operas. Enacted against a background of chivalric and religious pageantry and made vivid by Wagner's powerful, richly scored music, Lohengrin comes grippingly to life in this handsome Metropolitan Opera production, featuring a notable cast under the baton of Artistic Director James Levine.
